At 12.00 noon on 18 August 2009, I'm taking to the Fourth Plinth as part of Antony Gormley's One & Other exhibit. I'm going to spend my hour conducting experiments suggested through my site WWW.PLINTHIPAUL.CO.UK On the site you can submit experiment ideas and vote on others' suggestions to help decide which ones actually get done on the day. You can also predict the experiments' outcomes, with each correct prediction winning you an entry in a prize draw for plinth memorabilia. See you from the plinth on the big day!

PlinthiPaul is a collaboration between Paul Speller and Ben Werdmuller, who would love to make you a web site too: visit benwerd.com/strategy for info.
